A light ray so fast, a whisper so slow
 At the touch of love everyone becomes a poet
 Listen to the texture of love in your voices
 Love is the greatest risk, yet never a mistake
 Because the love you give away is the only love you keep
 And the only remedy to love is to love more
 Vanish into one another like water into the earth
 Bloom the lush garden by falling in love all over again
 When your light shines it gives others permission to do the same
 You are a living, breathing prayer who takes the chance the dance, the romance, in every circumstance
 Do to each other what Springtime does to the cherry trees
