

PAUL RICH STUDIO

Paul Rich caters to those who value creative wedding photography. Known for his ability to put his subjects at ease, Paul delicately balances his artist's sense of composition with a technician's knowledge of light. Paul has a talent for quietly capturing moments that will evoke the feeling of your event for years to come.

Paul pursued wedding photography at the early age of 13. He began working as a photographer's assistant and photographed his first wedding by the time he turned 18. While earning his degree in photography at Bard College in New York, Paul had the opportunity to study with such notable photographers as Stephen Shore, Larry Fink, Frank Gohlke, and many others. It is from this classical training as an artist that has made Paul Rich a highly sought after wedding photographer.

"Your work leaves us speechless and the images will allow us to forever remember and relive every moment of our wedding. Your talent is matched by an equally great heart and personality..."
